

The European Research Centers in mathematics seek the feedback of researchers through an online survey.

ERCOM is a committee of the European Mathematical Society gathering the directors of 29 European Research Centres in the Mathematical Sciences, including IHP.

ERCOM seeks the feedback and suggestions of researchers from all over the world through an online survey.

Estimated time 15 minutes.
Open until October 31, 2021.

SURVEY

Dears researchers,

THE ERCOM COMMITTEE NEEDS YOUR PARTICIPATION ON A SURVEY

The graphic features a world map with various research centers labeled: Schrödinger (ESI), Banach (IMPAN), Steklov, Amsterdam (CWI), Newton (INI), Euler (EM), IHP, Noether (ENI), Prague (IMCAS), ICMS, Barcelona (CRM), Zürich (FIM), ICMAT, ICTP, INdAM, CIMP, Max Planck (MPIM), Ihes, Pisa (CRM), Lisbon (CIM), Weierstrass (WIAS), Oberwolfach (MFO), Eurandom, BCAM, CIRM, Leipzig (MIS), Mittag-Leffler (MIL).

The European Research Centres in the Mathematical Sciences seek your feedback and suggestions, to possibly adapt their services and/or implement new ones.

This survey is an ERCOM initiative targeting communities of researchers using - or intending to use - the services of any of the involved centres. In a context of sanitary, economic, ecological crisis, the goal of this survey is to learn about the experience of researchers - in particular during the Covid-19 pandemic - and their expectations and needs for the future in terms of international exchange. The outcome will be used by ERCOM members to possibly adapt their services and/or implement new ones.

No personal or identity information is requested, the questionnaire is completely anonymous.

If you have any problems with the survey or if you need further information, please contact us at this email address: contact@ihp.fr
